John Keats was born in London on 31 October 1795, the eldest of Thomas and Frances Jennings Keats's four children. Although he died at the age of twenty-five, Keats had perhaps the most remarkable career of any English poet. He published only fifty-four poems, in three slim volumes and a few magazines. But over his short development he took on the challenges of a wide range of poetic forms ...

Ghost is an albino, with thick white fur, red eyes, and a bushy tail. At the outset, Ghost is the smallest of his pack, but he eventually grows to be larger than his litter mates. He receives his name from Jon because of his fur color and the fact that he never makes a sound. The direwolf does not whine or howl, but sometimes bares his teeth in a silent snarl.
